

A photograph of an outdoor dining area for Versa Events. The space is covered by a modern, industrial-style structure with large, corrugated metal pipes and dark metal beams. Several rectangular wooden tables are arranged throughout the area, each set with white plates, folded napkins, and glasses. Black chairs with brown leather seats are paired with the tables. In the background, there are green hedges and potted plants. Several signs with the word "VERSA" are visible, including one hanging from the ceiling and others on the walls. The overall atmosphere is contemporary and sophisticated.
